We hear some talk of the erection of a fraternal building by the various lodges. We hope to see it materialize.

Any garbage on your premises? It provides a breeding place for flies, remove it and disinfect where it occupies space.

Building sidewalks about the square inconveniences for awhile, but the benefit to be derived hereafter will more than recompense.

Record Foreman To Build Home.

Mr. Leonard Miller the capable foreman in the Record office has purchased of Postmaster W. T. West a lot adjoining his home on Danville street 60 X 224 feet. "Len" will erect a neat residence on the lot.

Very Attractive.

Lancaster residents are showing renewed pride in beautifying their homes; handsome and attractive porches seem to be the latest fad and Mr. E. B. Dickerson is the latest devotee to the prevailing fashion. He has erected a very attractive porch to his pretty residence on Water street which lends very much to the already pretty appearance of his property.

Suit Of Clothes For $1.00.

In the clothing club being conducted by H. T. Logan, Mr. Samuel E. Jennings was the first successful member on last Saturday night, and he received a $25.00 suit of clothes for $1.00. At the store of J. W. Smith, Mr. Sanford held the lucky number and was presented with a suit of clothes. These clubs are attracting considerable attention, and will doubtless draw considerable trade to the stores of these progressive merchants.

Light For The Voters.

Mr. J. R. Mount who is making the race for the democratic nomination for the legislature, while he is strictly opposed to using undue influence upon the voters, yet believes that they should have lots of light by which to choose the most acceptable candidate, and is presenting to each one with whom he comes in contact a small box of safety matches, which will not only enable them to see the light, but will be a constant reminder that the donor is in the race.

A Liberal Gentleman.

Mr. Walton Moss' liberality is only equalled by the quality of his luscious berries. For the second time this season Mr. Moss remembered the Record office with his fine berries, and when we say remembered, we mean it, not a measly little box from which each member could have one berry, but a full sized, as all his baskets are, of the berries for each member of the force. They were of the Buback and Tennessee Prolific varieties and were certainly toothsome.

New Principal Called.

We have just learned of the call that has been extended to Prof. M. L. Caner of the Richmond High School, by our board of trustees, to the principalship of the Graded School here. Prof. Caner comes highly recommended and the trustees of the Richmond school are loath to give him up. While a final answer has not yet been given but a favorable one is expected today, if this should be true, the trustees are to be congratulated on securing his services.

Candidates Here.

Mr. Clifton Rodes Anderson of Danville and Mr. Charles F. Montgomery of Liberty, candidate for the democratic nomination for State Senator from this district, were mingling with the court day crowd on last Monday, each flanked by warm friends who are taking active interest in their respective behalf. Both are clever gentlemen, well qualified to occupy the position to which they aspire, and each succeeded in creating considerable sentiment among the voters of Garrard.

Another Achievement By The Woman's Club.

The local Woman's Club recently took up with the L & N railroad the matter of beautifying the grounds surrounding the station at this place, and they are in receipt of a very courteous letter from Mr. W. H. Anderson, the Superintendent at Paris, telling them that he will gladly make the improvements along the lines suggested by the ladies. If the ladies could meet with the same success with their undertakings at home that they have with the L & N, Lancaster would most assuredly in the very near future become a "city beautiful".

Mr. Lawson Withdraws.

In this issue of the Record will be found the announcement of the withdrawal of W. L. Lawson from the race for the democratic nomination for the office of sheriff of Garrard county. Mr. Lawson has been a strong factor in the race for sheriff and his withdrawal will come as a surprise and a source of regret to a legion of friends all over the county who have contemplated yielding him their support.

"Billy" Lawson has ever been a staunch defender of the principles of democratic party in Garrard county, and when in a race for himself he never failed to make it an aggressive one, and he was equally as energetic in behalf of the nominees of his party. When in office, he made a fearless and upright officer and cared well for the trust placed in his hands by the people, and it will be a source of regret to his many friends that he has deemed it expedient to withdraw from the present contest.

Judge Hughes Here Monday.

Judge John W. Hughes, a clever and courteous gentleman of Harrodsburg, and who is a prominent candidate for the Danville Collectorship, was among the court day visitors Monday.

To the Democrats of Garrard County in withdrawing from the race for the democratic nomination for sheriff of Garrard County, I sincerely desire to thank my friends for their proffered support and express my appreciation and gratitude for honoring me in the past and my most sincere wishes for the success of the democratic party.

Yours Truly
W. L. Lawson.

Representatives Of U. S. And State Department Of Animal Industry Investigate Disease Among Horses.

In response to a letter written to Hon. Harvey Helm on last Friday by County Attorney J. E. Robinson informing him of the disease prevalent among the horses of this and adjoining counties, a representative of the U. S. Department of Animal Industry arrived here on last Monday to investigate the conditions existing. Mr. Helm with the courtesy and expediency for which he is noted took the matter up without delay, and exerted every influence within his power to assist us in our distress.

Dr. A. P. Abbott, a representative of the Department of Animal Industry, accompanied by Dr. Robert Graham, State Veterinarian, came here Monday and spent two days in making a thorough investigation of the existing conditions. The result of their efforts was to pronounce the malady as Catarrhal Fever in a very malignant form; the disease according to these gentlemen who are well versed in medical lore pertaining to the diseases of domestic animals, is both infectious and contagious, and so rapidly has the disease been known to spread in some instances as to give rise to the inference that it is also atmospheric, however the latter is merely a supposition. There has as yet been no cure discovered for the cause of the disease, further than that it originates from a germ, and there of course has yet been no remedy discovered for its cure; in fact the disease itself and its complications shows in such a variety of forms, and effects so many different animals in so many different ways, that it has been found very difficult to deal with.

The gentlemen state that after a horse has been apparently perfectly well for a period of six weeks time, that it may transmit the malady, and for this reason, if for no other, the greatest care should be exercised in allowing them to come in contact with well stock, or with stock that have not been exposed to the malady; they also advise that the greatest care should be exercised in the treatment of horses, that they should not be worked or allowed to become overheated when in the convalescent stage, that they and other stock should be given clean cool quarters, good wholesome food and water and plenty of fresh air.

The disease as a usual thing runs its course in about sixty days and they give it as their opinion that the disease will be completely exterminated within that length of time.

The Drs. dwell at length upon the anti-toxin which has been used in the treatment of the disease, and they are very anxious that the people be disabused as to the idea existing in the minds of some that the anti-toxin was either detrimental or inefficient, or that it spread the disease. Dr. Abbott was very positive in his statements in this regard; he says that the medicine being used is an anti-toxin, and not a serum, that it is taken from a diseased horse as a bacteria, dead, and is boiled and by certain scientific means made into an anti-toxin, which is then introduced into the stock desired to be inoculated.

The Drs. state positively that this anti-toxin will NOT CURE the malady, neither will it PREVENT IT, NOR WILL ITS ADMINISTRATION EITHER IMPART OR SPREAD THE DISEASE. The claim made for it is that it will mitigate the effects of the disease, or to use their technical term, "check the secondary invaders", which are pneumonia, acute indigestion and the various complications which usually arise from or accompany it. They advocate that all stock, be inoculated with the anti-toxin, as by its use the fatalities will be reduced to the minimum.

As a result of their researches, the Drs. state that they have found that about twelve deaths are all that can be ascribed to Catarrhal Fever in this county, but that there have been other fatalities among the horses from other causes, such as trouble in foaling, distemper and other maladies to which the equine family is peculiar, and that every death from whatever cause was doubtless ascribed to the malady which has created such a terrible scare and it must be admitted, considerable havoc.

Both Dr. Abbott and Dr. Graham expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the manner in which the disease is being handled in the county, and expressed it as their opinion that the local veterinarians were handling the malady properly, and that every thing possible was being done by them to eradicate the disease, and that within a short time we might expect to see it entirely disappear.

E. W. HARRIS.
J. P. PRATHER.

Last week's issue of the Independent magazine contained a splendid article from the pen of Richard M. Winans, entitled "Starve the Fly", and which advances some new and interesting theories as to the ultimate destruction of this world wide pest. The article says that the national slogan of last year was "Swat the fly", and it was a good one in that it served to bring the fly into the limelight, but that there should be substituted for it the slogan "Starve the fly", and the many convincing reasons given in the article for this change in the slogan are so interesting that we wish we had the room to reproduce the article in full. Mr. Winans calls attention to a "fly swatting" contest held in Worcester, Mass. in which it developed that the successful contestant, Master Earl

C. Basquet, a lad of twelve years, resorted to not only unfair means, but means which were calculated to injure the cause of the fly swatters considerably more than they would aid it; he manufactured a "fly farm", by gathering together all the refuse, dead fish and like filth, and placed it on a manure heap and then made a screen over the entire filthy mass in order that he might gather the coming brood, which he succeeded in doing to the extent of three and one half bushels, thereby winning the contest.

The article says "swatting is a useless and a more or less thankless task, a waste of energy, no matter how well directed. Don't swat the fly, he is an efficient sanitary barometer, a dependable danger signal, remove the surroundings which make his presence possible".

A successful campaign against the fly can be waged by striking at the root of the evil, remove the cause, and the effect will of a necessity fail to put in an appearance; remove the manure heaps, keep the stable in a sanitary condition, use strong disinfectants freely, thoroughly disinfect each and every breeding place, both about the house, and the outhouses, one fly eliminated by the "swatting process" has perhaps left in a breeding place upon your premises eggs that will leave several million of his kind to posterity, one breeding place destroyed is equivalent to the swatting of millions of flies.

Mr. Winans in his article advocates drastic measures in order to keep a community free from the breeding places of the fly, he goes so far as to advocate laws and penalties for their violation, even to the placing of the violators on the "chain gang", however, in an enlightened community, one where the public health is a matter of public weal, such measures are unnecessary, a campaign of education will enlighten the people who will gladly conform to the rules laid down for them, and will lend every assistance in their power to the elimination of the fly by means of destroying his breeding places.

Let the slogan then be from now on "starve the fly" instead of "swat the fly", and we will soon find that our labors will be much more prolific of results.

We were pleased when Kentucky was given the state wide primary law. The whole purpose of it is to enable the majority of the voters in each political party to select the candidate for such party in primary election. It came in answer to the call from the people for honest nominating election. Such can not be had if candidates for nomination use money or liquor to influence voters. A non-partisan movement has been inaugurated by some of the most conscientious people of the County to eliminate such corruption from the August primary. The pastors of the various churches of the County are the principle leaders.

To corrupt and debauch the electorate by the use of money or whiskey is a violation of the law on the part of both those who give and those who take. It is not only a violation of the law but it is recognized by all right thinking people as one of our gravest moral wrongs. Still some will have the temerity to oppose the movement. A correct principle has little influence upon some if it does not serve to carry out their selfish purposes. However, we are of the opinion that the cause will be hindered less by those who are out-spoken against it than those self seeking and designing persons who desire to get under the wing of a popular movement and be carried by it to the pay counter of some office.

We believe that those who are behind the good cause are too wise to suffer such amateur politicians or political organizations to side tract them by undertaking to absorb the movement. Those candidates and office seekers who sincerely favor the reform will find modesty an asset in dealing with it.

We cannot but feel that the conditions existing in the community because of the disease prevailing among the horses has been grossly exaggerated.

The situation has been grave, we are free to admit; but that it has improved we are equally sure. The business of the community has been injured, we think unnecessarily, and we are in hopes that our people will profit by the experience, and will adopt a method of sanitation in the care for their live stock equal to that adopted for the preservation of their own health, and which will result in the ultimate stamping out of disease among the stock of the county.

Some people are under the impression that it is dangerous to come to town. This is an error, you are in no danger of having your horse exposed to the disease by coming to town to attend to what ever business may bring you. Do not hitch your stock to public hitching posts, don't allow them to drink stagnant water or from public troughs, simply exercise the proper amount of caution and you are in no more danger in making a trip to town than you are from driving along the roads of the county.

Many are looking forward with much interest to the concert to be given at the new school building, on June 17, by Miss Jo-Hord Frank, who graduates in New York, June 2nd, and who is a daughter of the late Eld Joseph Frank.

Several have entered the Declaration Contest, for the gold watch, but, after consulting with our efficient School Superintendent, the management has changed the date to Friday June 27, in order to give more time for preparation.

Mr. Thomas Anderson Improving.

It will be a source of great gratification to the many friends of Mr. Thomas Anderson to know that he is considerably improved from his recent severe illness. There is not a more courteous or popular old gentleman in Garrard county than Mr. Anderson and it is sincerely hoped that he will soon be seen about his accustomed haunts.

Slim Court Day Crowd.

Only those who are absolutely compelled to come to town, or could afford to travel in automobiles, were at court on last Monday, which shows how effectually the malady among the horses effects the business of the community. There was no business of consequence transacted in court, and a very small number of stock was on the market, what was here finding a slow market. The day was given over to the politicians who were putting in their best looks with the small crowd assembled.

Mr. Burton To Judge At Lexington.

Mr. W. B. Burton the local horseman has been asked by Mr. John W. Bain, Secretary of the Blue Grass Fair Association, to judge the Fine Harness Horses and Roadster classes at the coming August meeting of the Fair in Lexington. The invitation was expended Mr. Burton at the instance of the Committee having these matters in charge. They certainly displayed good judgment, for no better judge of these classes of horses could be found either in or out of the state of Kentucky. Mr. Burton has signified his attention of accepting the invitation.

Col. Roosevelt Sues.

A hot time is in progress in Ishpeming Mich. this week where an interesting libel suit in which Col Theodore Roosevelt is the plaintiff, is being tried. The defendant is George A. Newett, publisher of a newspaper in Ishpeming, and it is alleged that Mr. Newett stated in columns of his papers that the Col. was a drunkard, handled the truth in a reckless manner and many other things which were calculated to raise the ire of the doughty Col. However, he took particular umbrage at the first allegation, that he was addicted to the use of intoxicants, and massive bundles of depositions and a great array of oral testimony will be introduced, and as Mr. Newett as well as the Col. is of a pugnacious disposition, a warm time is expected, and the outcome of the litigation is being watched with interest all over the country.

Mr. Duncan Returns.

Mr. John M. Duncan returned Sunday from Atlanta Ga., where he went to attend the meeting of the three General Assemblies of the Presbyterian church. He was the guest of his sister Mrs. W. S. Elkin while in Atlanta.

Garrard County Negro Plans During Escape Of Convicts From Frankfort Penitentiary. Discovered By Warden Wells.

The discovery of a plot to effect a wholesale escape of convicts from the Frankfort penitentiary was made by Warden Wells last week and the two ringleaders, Allen Hall a lifer from Pulaski county, leading the white prisoners and Clarence Fry, sent from this county for life for murder, leading the blacks, were transferred to the prison at Eddyville. The escape has been planned for several months and was to be put into effect on June 9th, on what is known as "flower day", a day when the good ladies enter the prison and try to make life a little less dreary for those confined within its walls by the distribution of flowers, an annual custom, and which the prisoners look forward to as the one bright spot in their otherwise monotonous lives. The plan of the prisoners was to await the tolling of the bell at noon time on that day, when they were to overpower the guards, seizing they women who were distributing flowers and using them as a shield in case of resistance or attack from the guards on the outside, then scale the walls or leave by the gates and effect their escape. The plot was a bold one and would no doubt have proven successful had not their plans been known to the Warden and means taken by him to prevent its being put into execution.

Clarence Fry who was to lead the colored convicts in their dash for liberty, was sent to the penitentiary for life from this county in December 1909 for the killing of another negro named Mullins near Bryansville. Fry before committing the crime which earned for him a life sentence, was considered a good negro and had never before been in trouble.

Ice Plant Now Finished And In Operation A Credit To The Community.

It has many times been projected by different persons to construct an ice plant in Lancaster, and as many time was the idea discarded as not being feasible; it remained for Mr. Henley V. Bastin to exhibit sufficient temerity to install this plant, which involved the expenditure of no small sum of money, and a visit to the establishment will convince the most skeptical that his efforts will undoubtedly prove a success. The plant is model one, with the latest and most highly improved machinery, which Mr. Bastin, who is naturally of a mechanical turn of mind, has already mastered to the minutest detail. Foreseeing the necessity of husbanding his water supply, he has erected a device for cooling and reusing his water, and many other practical labor and money saving devices are to be seen, which bear evidence of the careful thought given the plant before its construction by Mr. Bastin. He is using the city water, consuming about 10,000 gallons per day, and he has made arrangements in the event of the city water supply falling short, which is extremely improbable, to at once utilize the water from a never failing spring on the premises, which is thought amply sufficient to keep the plant going to its capacity, which is 5 tons per day.

The storeroom in conjunction with the ice plant is already filled with clear pure ice, sufficient for weeks supply for the town and county, and it is hoped to keep it full, and such a thing as a scarcity of ice in the very hottest of weather, will never be known here again.

Mr. Bastin will also operate his creamery, ice cream plant and a bottling works for bottling aerated waters, in conjunction with the ice plant, and everyone in Lancaster is congratulating him upon his achievement in the construction of this model plant and wishing him all kinds of success in his new venture.

Filter Plant Being Discussed.

Professor E. H. Mark, State Sanitary Engineer of Bowling Green Ky., and Mr. J. B. Green of Pittsburgh Pa., president of the Greer Filter Mfg. Co., the firm which installed the local filter, about which there has been so much discussion, are in the city this week, and some means will doubtless be devised by which Lancaster will have her filter question settled before they take their departure.

W. B. Burton's Horse Wins Prize In Danville Carnival Parade.

The May Carnival which is an annual affair in Danville, and which is a Danville and Boyle county institution, participated in by the elite of our neighboring county, came to a close on last Saturday. In the big parade which was participated in by nearly a hundred rigs, floats etc., the prize for the best turnout among the older students was awarded to the rig driven by Miss Adeline Wiseman and Mr. Charlie McDowell; the prize was a handsome silver loving cup. The horse driven by Miss Wiseman and Mr. McDowell was the property of Mr. W. B. Burton of this place, and she certainly demonstrated the fact that she was amply able to acquit herself in the proper manner in good company. She is a high stepping, mettlesome black mare and at the very first sound of music throws up her head and begins to show just about such actions as a young lady who is fond of dancing does on a ball room floor.

Mrs. Silas Case.

Mrs. Ira Case, wife of Mr. Silas Case died at their home in this city Sunday morning, and after funeral services her remains were buried in the Lancaster cemetery on Monday.

Mrs. Case's illness was of only three days duration, her demise being due to pneumonia. She was 45 years of age and was the daughter of the late John House, who but a few weeks ago preceded her to the grave. Besides her husband she is survived by two children Mrs. James Cox and Mrs. Cyrus Cox both of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Case but recently moved to Lancaster from the Hedgeville neighborhood, where they have a multitude of friends who will join with the many friends in this county in their regrets at her death and extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Simpson.

Mrs. Mollie Simpson, wife of Mr. John W. Simpson, died at the family residence in this county, near Marksville, on last Saturday night. Mrs. Simpson has been in feeble health for several years, and for the last few weeks life has only held by a mere thread, the severance of which was momentarily expected.

The deceased was in her 64th year and was the daughter of the late Louis Phillips, who many years ago was one of the leading business men and merchants of Lancaster. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sim Cook of Lexington and Mrs. Charles Grimes of this county, and one brother, Lewis V. Phillips of California, and her own immediate family, consisting of her husband and two daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Louisa Simpson.

She was a lifelong and consistent member of the Christian church, and her pastor Eld. F. M. Tindler, assisted by Rev. Mahan of the Fork church, held funeral services at the family home on Monday morning, after which her remains were laid at rest in the Lancaster cemetery.

To the community in which she dwelt Mrs. Simpson's death will come as a severe blow, as she was loved and respected by all for her many noble traits of character, a noble christian woman, who delighted in and was constantly seeking to do some good for others.

Many friends in Lancaster, and throughout this and adjoining counties will join with the friends and neighbors in deepest sympathy to the bereaved husband and the two young ladies in the loss of the dear wife and mother.

Teachers Chosen For Consolidated Schools At Paint Lick And Buena Vista For The School Year 1913-1914.

Prof. G. L. Waterbury has been chosen to head the Consolidated School at Paint Lick for the coming school year, and will have as his assistants Misses Minnie Johnson, Delia Tindler and Allie Hendren the latter two succeeding Misses Skinner and Cochran, who did not apply for positions.

The new school at Paint Lick under the able leadership of Prof. Waterbury, during the short time it has been in session, made a very favorable impression upon the people of that community and afforded them educational facilities such as they have never known before, and they have expressed their thorough approval of the action of the Board in again choosing him for the principalship of the institution.

For the new Consolidated School under course of construction at Buena Vista Prof. Isaac Hacker was chosen as principal, with Mrs. Hacker and Miss Anna Horn, all of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School at Richmond as assistants. It is confidently expected that the people in that section will be equally as delighted with their school as are their neighbors in the opposite end of the county.

Strawberry Supper A Success.

The Old Fellows strawberry supper on last Tuesday evening was a success. Chairman D. T. Baughman with his assistants Messrs J. A. Jones and Noah Marsce had provided excellent strawberries and the ladies of the order the cakes sufficient to feed the entire community, and like the boys and fishes of Biblical fame, seemed they would never give out. After serving a crowd consisting of nearly a hundred Old Fellows and the families, runners were sent out and rounded up every person to be found on the street and they were brought in and invited to partake of the delicious which consisted of W. E. Meas' delicious berries, cream and cake and lemonade.

We are glad to announce to the good people of Lancaster and Garrard County that our

The Womans Club

(Edited By The Womans Club)

The ladies of the Woman's Club believe that no other place is better or finer than Lancaster.

We believe that we should have all the improvements and adornments that other towns have.

We have been impressed with the fact that so many towns have their railway centers made bright and attractive with flower beds and well cared for grass.

We could see no reason, why we should not have as much consideration shown us. So a letter was written to the gentlemanly Superintendent at Paris, Ky., asking that we have our depot grounds made more pleasing. These men of the L. & N. are men of good taste as well as of business and they know the value of beautiful surroundings.

We give below a copy of this courteous letter which we appreciate so very much.

President, of Civic League, Lancaster, Ky.

Dear Madam—Referring to your favor of 6th instant relative to improving the appearance of the Company's grounds near Lancaster station.

I beg to advise that the matter has received full consideration and instructions have been issued to fix up this piece of ground and put it in shape, as desired.

I trust this will be satisfactory to yourself and the Civic League.

Yours very respectfully,

W. H. Anderson, Superintendent.
Should these instructions be carried out and we know they will our civic department will feel that our work is not in vain.

The Musical Department, under the direction of its committee, gave its last program of this season at the home of Mrs. Joe Robinson on Friday afternoon this program also closed the fifth session of the Woman's Club. This Department has proven the most popular innovation of the club and besides the entertainment it has afforded its members has at the same time instructed them concerning the lives of the great composers and their difference of expression.

***
After the Musical program Mrs. Curry, the new President conducted a business meeting in regard to next years work. In the Literary Department, of which Mrs. Geo. Robinson is appointed Chairman, the study of Shakespeare was chosen for the coming year. It was decided that each Department is to meet once a month and our out lined program of their work will appear in the coming year book. Which will be edited by Mrs. McRoberts and the several Chairmen with their Committees are requested to present their programs to her by the first of August. This is important as it is only on such conditions that Mrs. McRoberts has consented to do this work again for the club.

***
The members desiring to reenlist in the work of the club as well as any one else desiring to take membership will give their names to Miss Joan Mount.

The membership dues for the coming year will be one dollar and all members are requested to bring this sum to the opening session in October which will be held in the club room of the new school.

***
Miss Letty Mae McRoberts the efficient secretary of last year and who also took an active part in the work of each department, has started for an extensive trip abroad. We are glad that this opportunity has come to one so thoroughly prepared to enjoy and appreciate it and we wish for her a happy voyage and a safe return.

By Frank Tindler being Valedictorian does not mean that he has the highest honors of the class. He, at the present, has the same average Scholarship as Kate Holtzclaw and that can not be definitely decided until the last examination.

Since this is my last year I am gratified to feel that I go out with the "Faithful Six". The adjective "Faithful" describes them better than anything else that I could say of them. They have been known as such for three years. For thirteen years I have been preparing boys and girls for the colleges and universities of the South, and I am thankful to say that the majority of the class is as good as any of them. My hope is that they will continue and not be content to sit down to a life of innocuous desuetude.

Brittleness of Glass.
Brittleness of glass is due to the quick cooling of the hot substance. It is known that constant motion tends to rearrange the molecule in any substance and a similar effect is observed when glass is boiled in a weak solution of salt in water and allowed to cool gradually. The toughness of the glass is increased very much and the effect of quick heating is less disastrous to it.

GOVERNMENT HIGHWAY IN CONNECTICUT.

propositions should be expended in highway improvements; second, it established the policy of obligating the government to pay to local communities compensation for the use of highways in conducting the rural free delivery service—a service that is conducted at a great loss to the government and for the special benefit of the communities served; third, it was the beginning of a system of compensation which had not been carefully considered, but which when once adopted would certainly grow to immense proportions.

Believing that the government should not enter upon any policy of participation in highway construction without first giving careful attention to every phase of the subject, the senate rejected this provision and inserted a substitute, directing the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses for the study of the entire question and the drafting of such legislation as may meet the approval of the committee.

In legislating upon the subject of national participation in road improvement four different problems must be solved:

First.—To devise a plan that shall insure an equitable distribution of the funds of the different sections of the United States.

Second.—To determine whether the money should be expended in the construction of main arteries for interstate commerce or to be expended upon local branch lines that will serve merely as feeders for railroads.

Third.—To devise a plan of co-operation with the different states that will be acceptable to them and insure the co-operation of all with the federal government.

Fourth.—To throw round the national funds such safeguards as will insure their proper expenditure and guard against waste.—Senator Bourne in Saturday Evening Post.

No Good There.
The road drag will do nothing to improve the highway so long as it lies unused at the side of the road.

UNCLE SAM IN GOOD ROAD WORK

Bill to Pay For Carrying Mail Over Highways.

TURNED DOWN BY SENATE.

Was Believed to Be Impractical—Many Things to Be Considered in National Legislation on Subject of Improvement—Four Principal Problems.

Scarcely any public work is more permanent in its character when once undertaken than that of highway improvement. When a road is once located it is difficult to change its location. When once a foundation has been laid for a permanent highway the laying of a new foundation necessitates reconstruction of the entire surface.

It is therefore important that before entering upon a plan of national participation in highway construction we should adopt a definite and comprehensive plan based upon anticipation of needs and operations for many years to come, in order that we may be certain the money expended and the work done in one year will co-ordinate with the expenditures and constructive work of the next year and for many years to come. Care in planning a system and methods of procedure may save us millions of dollars of waste or bring vastly greater results than would be attained under an ill considered and haphazard action.

In the last postoffice appropriation bill the house inserted a provision, after the bill had been reported from the committee and while it was under discussion on the floor of the house, providing the classification of roads used for the carrying of United States mails and for the payment by the government of an annual sum as rental in consideration of the fact that the government uses these highways.

Such payments were to be either $15, $20 or $25 a mile, according to the character of the road over which the mails were transported.

This provision was rejected by the senate for several reasons. First, it did not provide that the federal ap-how much time is lost through needless hand adjustments on the ordinary machines?

DO TYPEWRITER USERS REALIZE

Do you realize, for example, how much time is lost in ordinary letter writing by the hand adjustments of the carriage necessary to write the date, the address, indent the paragraphs, write "yours truly" and address the envelopes?

THE COLUMN SELECTOR of the Model 10 REMINGTON eliminates these hand adjustments—absolutely. A single touch on one of the SELECTOR KEYS brings the carriage instantly to the exact point on every line where the writing is to be done.

And this is only one of the many labor saving features of the REMINGTON Typewriter

Put the Load Where It Belongs

If you are to make the most of your time and opportunities, you must have efficient tools to work with. You have enough hard, tiresome work without wasting your time and energy at wood-sawing, water-pumping, grindstone-turning and the like. Use an IHC engine to furnish power for such work. In less time, and with far less effort, the wood is sawed, the stock watered, the tools sharpened, all at one-tenth the expense of hand work. Put the load where it belongs. Buy and use an

IHC Oil and Gas Engine

It is the cheapest engine you can buy because it costs less per year of service than others. It is so powerful that it will carry a load ten per cent or more above its rated horse power. Perfect combustion makes it economical.

IHC oil and gas engines operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, distillate, alcohol. Sizes are 1 to 50-horse power. They are built in every approved style: vertical, horizontal, portable, stationary, skidded, air-cooled, and water-cooled. Saving, pumping, spraying outfits, etc., 12 to 60-horse power.

Write our nearest office for catalogues and any information desired if you wish to learn what an IHC engine will do for you.

DECIDE YOURSELF

The Opportunity Is Here, Backed By Lancaster Testimony.

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement. Read Lancaster endorsement. Read the statements of Lancaster citizens. And decide for yourself. Here is one case of it: Mrs. B. F. Walter, Hill St., Lancaster, Ky., says: "I never fail to praise Doan's Kidney Pills when I have the opportunity, as they are certainly a fine remedy. I have not been without a supply in the house for years. Whenever my back becomes lame and painful, a few doses bring me instant relief. At one time I feared that I had serious kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and gave unmistakable evidence of disordered kidneys. At that time it was my good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them. In a short time my kidneys were normal." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WILL LOWER THE COST OF LIVING

Great Economies Effected Through Improved Roads.

BIG SAVING IN HAULAGE.

Cotton States Could Afford to Spend $1,000,000 a Year on Highways, According to Government Bulletin—Poor Roads Cost Them Twice That.

Good roads are an important factor in the reduction of the cost of living. At least that is the theme of the latest farmers' bulletin of the department of agriculture, which shows that the benefit from improved highways does not accrue only to automobilists, but also to the farmer and the shipper of produce of all kinds. For instance, there are parts of the south, according to the bulletin, in which the time required for hauling goods to market has been reduced from twelve to two days by the improvement of the highways and a saving of $3 a day in driver's pay alone thus has been effected. Really good roads would save the cotton states of the south approximately $2,000,000 annually in hauling charges, according to the department, which gives these figures to prove its contention:

"In the cotton states of the south the average haul of cotton from the farm to the shipping point is 11.8 miles. The average load is about 1,700 pounds—a little more than three bales—and the average cost is 80 cents per bale. The cost of marketing the 1911 crop of 16,250,276 bales was $13,000,220 if computed on the above basis. To each bale of cotton there is about half a ton of cottonseed, which was hauled from the farm to the gin, and then a large percentage of it hauled again to the shipping point. The average cost of hauling cottonseed in the United States is $3 a ton. The 1911 seed crop therefore cost $24,375,414 to haul. "The total cost of hauling the cotton crop in 1911, including the seed, was therefore $37,375,634. Any system of road improvement throughout this zone which would reduce the annual hauling charge 5 per cent would effect a saving of $1,868,781 a year. From these figures it would appear that it would be good business to incur an expense for road improvement, even if such investment entailed an annual interest and maintenance charge of $1,000,000 to the community of cotton states."

"There are certain direct economic or money advantages which follow the improvement of public roads in every community," says Acting Director Sargent of the department in the bulletin. "These advantages are probably most apparent in the reduced cost of hauling."

"Certain dependent or reflex economic advantages also arise in a community where roads have been improved. The increase in the value of farm lands is an example of the indirect economic advantages of improved road conditions. It should not be considered, however, that in presenting the advantages of improved roads the direct decrease in the cost of hauling and the increase in farm values are entirely separate and independent. The farm increases in value partly because the cost of hauling is decreased."

"Whatever methods are used to improve a road, the improvement for hauling purposes is due to three causes—the betterment of the road surface, the reduction of the grade and the shortening of the length. On such an improved road the time required to haul a given quantity of material a given distance is reduced. The reduction may be largely due to increased speed of hauling, to increased load or to both. It is important to recognize that for transportation purposes reduction of time is equivalent to a decrease of the distance from the market centers. It is easy to see, then, why the increase of farm values must follow improved roads, for their effect is to bring the farms in a sense nearer the towns. The fact that on roads with improved surfaces hauling becomes largely independent of the season of the year or weather conditions means another very considerable reduction in hauling costs. It also means that many of the limitations of the number and kind of farm operations are immediately removed."

Work is now in progress at Lock No. 8, a number of hands are being employed. Walls are being built to protect the lower banks as a great deal of damage was done during the high waters. Rev. J. W. Mahan accepted the pastorage of the church at this place Saturday after being unanimously called two weeks ago. An effort being made to raise the salary for half time. He greatly resembles his good sire Silent Brook and is out of Clayo, by the great Futurity sire Moko. A grand combination of two of the best race horse families of the present day. He being a real race horse himself, having had very little training and most of that by an amateur. It certainly looks like this horse is of Grand Circuit caliber, and if given half a chance he will win his share of the money sure.

BLEUCHER is a perfect type of a road horse, good gaited with perfect manners, wears no boots, or weights. He was a money winner at the Blue Grass Fair last year and is conceded by good judges to be the best road horse out this year.

This is a good opportunity for Garrard and adjoining counties to breed into the best families of the trotting blood. Look this horse's breeding over and see how many they have in the list both sire and dam.

"I am under the impression that Gordon Todd will prove to be a great sire" as he was good headed, pure gaited, with plenty knee, shoulder and stride action which all good sires have to have. I do think that had he been sound he would have gone a mile in 2:04 or 2:05 and probably faster. Yours truly, E. F. Geers.

Winning race record on Grand Circuit 1912. Fall brother of Lulu McGregor 2:08 1/2, a Grand Circuit winner of 1912. Son of Jay McGregor and sired Beldy McGregor 2:05 1/2, who sold at auction February 4th, in New York City for sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000.00) for export to Austria. His dam is Baroness Ethel 2:23 1/2, a daughter of Baron Wilkes.

Chimewood 2:19 1-4

A great many people consider Chimewood the handsomest trotting stallion living; son of Highwood 2:21 1/2 and Chimie of Belis by Mambrino King. His first five dams are in great brood mare list. Uncle Sam's Commission of four men from different States passed on this horse, Mr. Rommel Chief of Animal Husbandry of the United States, offered his limit, three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) cash for Chimewood to head the government breeding farm in Colorado. This as well as others have been refused.

This is the time to patronize these horses. For 1913 terms and full information and the place.

After Reading The Records.

A writer in the Saddle and Show Horse Chronicle, issue April 8th, has this to say regarding saddle sires:—

"Theorize as we may, it is the fellow that has delivered the goods to-day who is the one most likely capable of doing it again to-morrow."

And then HE correctly records

BOHEMIAN KING 2410.

The place in the front rank as a sire of show colts to-day. The records not only confirm his statement, but are much stronger. Remember twenty six of his get were winners throughout the United States last year. But why go on? This stallion's phenomenal success as a sire has made him the sensation of the saddle horse world.

Origin of Term Roundhead.

The fanatics of the time of Charles the First, ignorantly applying the text, "Ye know that it is a shame for men to have long hair," cut theirs very short. It is said that the queen, once seeing Pym, a celebrated patriot, thus cropped, inquired who that round-headed man was; and that from this incident the distinction became general, and the party were called Roundheads.

CONCRETE ROADS MOST PRACTICAL

Can Be Built Economically and Kept In Good Condition.

STUDY THE "AGGREGATE."

Local Deposits of Sand, Gravel and Rock Form Important Part of Highway—Be Careful In Purchasing Cement—Machine Mixing Best.

In a way it is fortunate that the United States has been rather slow in the matter of roadmaking. The roads can now be built of lasting materials, such as will withstand the wear of motor traffic, which is fast ruining Europe's century old roadways. Lasting road materials are everywhere present in the form of sand and gravel from pits and stream beds and crushed rock from stone quarries. Combined with cement into concrete, they form an inexpensive and permanent road surface, which successfully resists the usually destructive action of automobiles.

The first consideration in the building of concrete roads is a careful study of local deposits of sand, gravel and rock—known as the "aggregate"—to see whether they are suitable for concrete. Sand must be clean and hard and must grade uniformly in size of grain from one-fourth inch down. The same applies to gravel and crushed rock, except that the largest particles commonly allowable are one and one-fourth inches in diameter. If local materials are usable a considerable saving will be effected, as only cement will need be freighted.

It is much faster and cheaper to mix the concrete with a machine than by hand. Depending on the grading of the aggregate, the concrete is usually proportioned one bag of cement to two cubic feet of sand and four cubic feet of screened gravel or crushed rock, or one of cement to two of sand and three of gravel or rock. During the grading and draining of the road the "aggregate" is hauled and piled at convenient points. The concrete is mixed in a machine, deposited in the thickness of six inches upon the firm old roadbed and is brought to grade and shape by means of a trowel. In order to shed the water to the side drains the surface of the concrete is given a rise or crown in the center of one-hundredth to one-seventy-fifth the width of the roadway. The surface is finished with a wooden float and wire broom, by which means there is afforded perfect footing for horses. At intervals of twenty-five feet the road is divided into sections by narrow contraction joints extending crosswise the road and entirely through the concrete.

The joints are formed by means of a thin metal or wooden cross form or divider, to which is tied a single or double thickness of tar paper, with the paper face against the last section of roadway. After the surface of this section is finished, and while the concrete for the adjoining section is being placed the cord holding the paper to the cross form is cut, and the cross form is removed. The tar paper adheres to the concrete and stays in the joint, which is reduced to the thickness of the paper.

When the surface of the concrete has hardened enough to prevent pitting it is sprinkled with clean water and is kept moist for several days. Likewise, as soon as possible, the pavement is covered temporarily with two inches of sand or dirt from the side road to give further aid in curing the concrete. Traffic is confined to the earthen side roads until the concrete is about two weeks old. In the meantime shoulders of broken stone or gravel are built along both edges of the pavement. These are made three feet wide and sufficiently thick to be firm and to make it an easy matter at all times for wagon wheels to pass from the side road on to the pavement.

Result of Bad Roads. There is another matter that makes bad roads a factor of loss. That is in the sale of the farm. A farm ten miles out on a road impassable for five months in the year has five-twelfths of its usefulness impaired and is certainly less than it should be were the roads not so bad. Bad roads are a deterrent to settlement, thus driving an additional value away from farm land due to increasing population. They act as a repellent force to drive the boys and girls and desirable citizens from farm life.

Origin of Term Roundhead. The fanatics of the time of Charles the First, ignorantly applying the text, "Ye know that it is a shame for men to have long hair," cut theirs very short. It is said that the queen, once seeing Pym, a celebrated patriot, thus cropped, inquired who that round-headed man was; and that from this incident the distinction became general, and the party were called Roundheads.

Kansas Humor. "We're having so much trouble settling up the estate," a man in Col. only said to Bill Payton, "that I sometimes wish father had not died."—Kansas City Star.

Love. Love is watchful, and, sleeping, slumbereth not. Though wearied, it is not tired; though pressed, it is not straitened; though alarmed, it is not confounded; but as a lively flame and burning torch, it forces its way upward and securely passeth through all.—Thomas a Kempis.

See that joint!

THAT patented joint has revolutionized the whole business of building silos by making it possible to construct a perfectly solid stavesilo of any desired height. When put together with a little white lead at these joints, a two-piece stave is as good as if it were made of one-piece staves, and very much less expensive. There is no metal at these joints to become corroded by the acids and no outside moisture can collect in them to rot the wood. This joint adds years to the life of your silo and many dollars to its value.

We have a plan by which you can own an Indiana Silo and let it pay for itself out of what it saves for you on next winter's feed bills. Give us a chance to explain it to you.

Hospitality Being Liberally Dispensed To Visiting Delegates To C. W. B. M. And Bible School Convention.

The Christians Women's Board of Missions and Bible School convention of the tenth district was opened Monday evening by an address by Rev. M. B. Ainsworth, of Georgetown. His theme was "The Supreme Mission of Life" and is said by many to have been a masterpiece.

A splendid program was rendered Tuesday by the Women's Missionary Society of the district, with the Pres. Miss Elkin in the chair. The session was open at 9.30 in the Presbyterian church and after an address by the President, reports of the various committees were read. These reports brought forth much favorable comment on account of showing much progress during the entire year from the Auxiliaries, Circles, and Mission Bands.

The message from the State secretary, Mrs. Louise Loos Campbell, was inspiring and brought her in closer fellowship with the women of the district. The election of officers being next in order Miss Elkin was unanimously re-elected President, the same County Managers being retained for another year.

A very touching part of the program was the memorial services for the deceased members, Mrs. Sarah K. Yancey, former State secy, and Mrs. M. E. Harlan, former National Secy, conducted by Mrs. Emma Kauffman. The ministers of the various districts represented were present and gave splendid talks and many words of encouragement. The evening services were concluded at the Christian Church and was a delightful occasion, with splendid music and an able address by Bro. H. W. Elliott, state secy for Ky. missions.

Wednesday program was in the interest of the Bible school and was ably conducted by the popular president Mr. C. E. Tate of Stanford.

One of the most attractive features of the entire convention was the splendid music so delightfully rendered by the Circle girls.

Mrs. W. R. Bastin was untiring in her efforts to make it a success and was ably assisted by all members of this little band.

The singing of Mrs. L. N. Miller, Misses Mattie Lee Hubble, Florence Johnson, Mamie Stormes Dunn, Mrs. J. W. Sweeney, Mrs. L. G. Davidson and Miss Maude Wilson, of Richmond was especially noted and highly complimented. The closing address at the Christian church Wednesday evening, by Rev. A. W. Fortune of Transylvania University was a fitting finale to the occasion and those who were unable to attend this meeting missed a rare treat.

Several addresses were made during the day, and much interest was manifested. Chief among the speakers were, W. Scott Willis, W. E. Frazee, H. C. Garrison, D. M. Walker, Pres. R. H. Crossfield, A. W. Fortune and Miss Hazel A. Lewis.

About seventy five delegates are in attendance notwithstanding the inclement weather and the prevalence of sickness in the community; the following is a copy of the register as well as the hostesses of the delegates and other visitors: Mrs. Ed Turley, Mrs. Ballard Luxon, and Mrs. S. P. Deatheridge, of Richmond, with Mrs. L. G. Davidson on Richmond Avenue; Mrs. G. B. Turley, Richmond, also with Mrs. Davidson; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Barnes and Mrs. E. C. As A Matter Of Precaution. To prevent well horses from drinking after stock that might have been effected with disease, Chief Heron has cut off the water at the public trough on the square. This was done as a matter of precaution, and the water will be turned on again as soon as the already abating scare is over.

Not Known Here. The Henry White who was cut at High Bridge a few Sundays ago, mention of which was made in last week's Record, was not known in Lancaster, and was not the White who at one time was a sufferer from typhoid fever in the Lancaster hospital. The chick that hasn't sufficient vitality at hatching time to make an unaided exit from its shell is likely to find life a pretty uphill kind of proposition and is seldom worth raising.

Don't fail to sow a good sized patch of rape near the hog lot and also near the chicken yard. In both instances it will give as large a return on the investment as any like area on the farm.

Whenever it can be arranged it is well to have the brood sow and her litter in a separate colony house. These should be so built that they will be waterproof, yet well lighted and well ventilated.

There is no getting around the fact that little chicks that are hatched in incubators and raised in brooders are freer from lice and mites than those that are reared in the old fashioned way.

It is a bit hard to realize, but nevertheless a fact, that the diamond that sparkles on the finger, the lead in the pencil which one is using and the coal that burns on the grate are all formed of the same element, carbon, under varying conditions.

If sorrel grows on the lawn it probably means that there is too much shade and that the soil is sour. The way to correct this is to trim the trees and let in the sunshine and to scatter slaked lime thinly over the places where the grass does not do well.

While a batch of newly hatched chicks may stay at a fat earthworm tossed to them and utter chirps of surprise, it usually isn't long before a couple of these same chicks are tugging at opposite ends of this same worm. They have jumped at the conclusion as to what this worm was created for.

One of the most satisfactory barnyard floors that the writer remembers in his boyhood days was made of thin and flat flagstones. It was always well drained, and an even more excellent feature was that it never got miry. Where stone of this kind can be got there is nothing for flooring the yard that is cheaper or better.

The season immediately following the year when potatoes are so plentiful as to be scarcely worth digging is, as a rule, a good season in which to plant a large acreage. This is because many growers, discouraged with poor returns or actual losses will still have the memory of their potato troubles fresh in mind, which will, in turn, mean a lessened production.

Investigations which have been carried on by the United States geological survey during the past three years in the Grand Mesa and West Elk mountain fields in Colorado reveal deposits of coal that are estimated to contain 12,000,000,000 tons of recoverable coal, which is equal to three-fourths of all the coal that has been mined or lost through mining processes in the United States since the beginning of the industry.

The girl who was lounging on the front porch at 9 o'clock in the morning one day last summer and reading a rapid dime novel when her mother was getting the family washing out is not the young woman that any chap who has his eyes cut will pick out for a wife. An infallible evidence of womanliness and good sense as well as good breeding on the part of a girl that she helps her mother and makes her burdens lighter.

Passersby always appreciate that pride which a farmer takes in his premises which causes him to fix things up and make them shipshape, so that he takes pride in giving the farm a name and putting that, with his own beneath, on a neat signboard over the entrance of the driveway leading from the main road. Entirely apart from the advantage which may come to the owner of the farm by doing thus, it is a real convenience in that it enables those who pass the place to know who it is who lives there.

Agricultural Course For Teachers.

Beginning June 9th and continuing for eight weeks along with the other summer work of Kentucky State University, the College of Agriculture will offer a course especially designed for teachers who have introduced or who contemplate introducing agriculture into the courses of study in their schools.

It is needless to say that the teaching of agriculture in the county or high school at once marks the teacher as far above the average and also makes the school serve the community interests better than ever before and after all, that is the first duty of the local school.

The studies will include Soils and Crops, Animal Husbandry, Botany, Bacteriology, Horticulture, Entomology, Zoology, Home Economics and the Methods of Teaching Agriculture in Schools. The work will be so arranged that the teacher can pursue other lines of study in the university at the same time.

During the week of June 24th special work will be arranged for ministers of the Gospel and also for county school superintendents. This work begins Thursday morning, June 24th, and closes Friday afternoon, June 27th.

Alfalfa In Garrard.

Mr. Tomas C. Rankin who resides at the bridge on the old Danville pike on what is known to the older people as "The Henry Bruce" and later as the J. J. Walker farm, has long been known as one of the leading breeders and shippers of fine mules in the state, and he has now demonstrated the fact that he is a practical farmer as well as stock breeder.

On Mr. Rankin's place is a piece of river bottom land which overflows and all previous crops have been ruined on many occasions by the river. Mr. Rankin conceived the idea of putting this bottom land, about three acres, in alfalfa; he acquainted himself thoroughly with the best methods for raising this crop before beginning; he first sowed the land in cow peas, afterward thoroughly discing his land. He then secured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington D C the necessary material for inoculating his alfalfa seed, and after using this according to their direction, sowed his seed about the first of last August; he was so successful as to secure a splendid stand, and the hitherto practically unknown crop in this country, seem to take kindly to its surroundings and grew well from the start. Mr. Rankin kept stock off of it during the winter months, and the crop is now in full bloom, luxuriant, thick and beautiful to behold, and it is fully expected that there will be at least two more crops gathered from the field during the season.

The growing of alfalfa has been attempted by many farmers in the county, but it remains for Mr. Rankin to make the first successful trial, and his example will doubtless be followed by many of our farmers in the future.

A farmer living in a county not far from where the writer resides has lately figured up the receipts for a year from his herd of eight Holstein cows. They gave 50,000 pounds of milk, which sold for $920, or an average of $115 per head. This record is not given because it is exceptional, but because it is good—twice as good as the average of dairy herds the country over. The owner of this bunch of Holstein cows knows exactly what each is doing in the way of butter fat production during the year by weighing the milk and applying the Babcock test, and he further knows what the bill of fare of the herd averages during the year. It is fair to assume that the annual feed bill of these cows is not far from $50 a head, in which case the owner had $20 to put in the bank at the end of the year.

That the Injection of hog cholera serum, when applied under proper conditions, is an effective cure of this devastating disease is shown in an experiment which was tried on the other day on a corn belt farm which is devoted chiefly to the raising of pure bred Berkshire hogs. The animals, valued at $200 each, were given to the directors of a county farm improvement league for the purpose of making the simultaneous treatment, which consists of injecting into the animal both the virus of the disease and the serum which holds it in check. As soon as the three hogs were treated they were placed in three separate cholera infected herds, where the conditions were as favorable as could be for contracting the disease. None of the three pigs died, nor did the injection of the cholera virus or exposure in cholera infected herds have any effect on them.

Don't Allow Stock To Run At Large.

Col. A. D. Leavell, County Live Stock Inspector informs us that complaint has reached him that diseased stock have been allowed to run at large upon the public highway, and that it is his duty to see that this is stopped. There is a penalty of $25 for this offense and even if there was not, it should not be done. While disease is present in the county, or in adjoining counties, every person, as a matter of protection to themselves, should not allow their stock to run at large, where if they are well are liable to come in contact with infected stock, and if they are sick, they are liable to infect some one else with disease.

Keep your stock upon your own premises, both as a matter of protection to yourself and to your neighbors and if you persist in allowing diseased stock to run at large upon the public highways, you may expect a visit from the Stock Inspector, and a fine for your failure to observe the law.

Withdraws Hon C. R. Anderson Announces

His Withdrawal From Race For Nomination For State Senate.

The Danville Advocate of Tuesday published the following card from Hon. C. R. Anderson announcing his withdrawal from the race for the democratic nomination for the State Senate from this district, thus leaving a clear field to the Hon. Charles Montgomery of Casey county.

Mr. Anderson's card is as follows:— Since I announced my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in this district, Mr. Charles Montgomery, of Casey County, a thoroughly reputable gentleman and abundantly competent to perform the duties of the position named, has offered for the same place. The Democrats of this District are interested alone in the matter of fit representation, not in questions of personal ambition and individual political preference, and a contest between opposing candidates within the same political organization sometimes leads to discordant and unhappy party conditions and unfortunate weakening of strength for the final struggle between the Democrat selected and the candidate of the opposing party. There is no excuse or reason at this time for the continuance of a contest that might give birth to such condition. Thanking my friends in the four counties of the District for their manifested fidelity and loyalty to my interests, I now withdraw from the race.

C. R. ANDERSON.

An Interesting Letter.

The following interesting lines from our good friend, Mr. J. R. Haselden, who with Mrs. Haselden and son are touring the Southwest, will be read with much interest:—

La Pryor Texas, May 20, 1913. Lancaster Chapter, No 56, R. A. M. Companions,

Oklahoma and Texas seem to have more Masons than any place I have ever seen. Dallas, Texas had a class for the Shriners of 536, total amount of initiations was over four thousand dollars. All of these men were either Knight Templars or 32nd degree masons.

I have seen at least 15 Indians who were K. T. 32 degree masons or Shriners. When I first landed in Oklahoma at Muskogee, and the first Indian Mason I ever saw came up to me at the depot and asked me if I was going to the Shriners meeting at Dallas Texas, I said yes, and he said he was a brother mason too, also a 32 degree mason. I talked with brother "Injun" some and thought, he was trying to put one over on me so excused myself and left Bro. "Injun". In the mean time I met a Shriner of Muskogee Temple he asked me to walk up to the Shriner's head quarters and meet some of the boys, having plenty of time on account of waiting for train to Dallas I went up to the Secretary's office and who should I see but Bro Red "Injun" coming in to pay his fee and to take the Shriners degree so as to go to Dallas. There are lots of very wealthy Indians in Oklahoma, some of them have white wives, and are well to do people while others are more degraded than our negroes on the Famous Battle row of Lancaster.

I spent one day at Tulsa Oklahoma I have been more favorably impressed with Tulsa than any place I have seen. There is more business there in one day than in Lancaster in one year.

Charley and Will West are in the fire Insurance business have a nice business and are making money as well as being recognized in Tulsa by business men as up to date and live wires. I met our friend R. L. Davidson, he looks fine and certainly has made good. From the way Bob is known in Oklahoma we may hear of him being one of the foremost politicians of that state. Did not get to see Mr. Williams as he was out of the city, from all indications he is doing nicely.

I am now in the onion and cactus belt of the world with plenty of deer, wild hog, jack rabbits, and horned frogs.

I was out in Auto to see a former Garrard man, Mr. M. Adams he lives in a bungalow style house made of sun baked sand and mud blocks, a house about 24 by 28 feet, nicely furnished, deer horn on walls and even hanging on the fence. To think of driving an automobile in to where deer, wild hogs, jack rabbits, rattle snakes and horned frogs are in abundance. Mr. Adams likes the Country and is doing nicely.

Mr. M. G. Aldridge and family are raising cotton, having 80 acres and are all pretty busy.

Respectfully,

J. R. Haselden.

? to 3.

The local colored base ball team defeated a team from Pains on last Saturday, which is said to be the best colored team in the state. The Lancaster team made so many scores we were unable to count them while their visitors only made three.

The New Freedom

Not since Garrard became a county has a more stainless flag been lifted to view, than in the past ten days. Its symbol has been in the swift signature of an avalanche of honor names county wide to put a torch to the cattle pen of vote buying and selling directly and indirectly, salute Lincoln, salute Mercer also.

In the world magazine for May 1913 is a great article on the same line of things, its title the "New Freedom." Among the notable literatures of America in a hundred year past, as the utterance of a public man it stands on the top of the mountain. It is by Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States that this man should find time amid the tremendous pressure of his duties to this message himself only shows how he is fired by his theme and what the peril is.

A few extracts are given that the excellent citizenship of Garrard may not miss some of its mighty inspiration through the worthy columns of their county journal. Hear the opening paragraph in the author's discussion of the "New Freedom."

"The concern of patriotic men is to put our Government again on its right basis, by substituting the popular will for the rule of guardians. It is to put the processes of common council for those of private arrangement."

Again: "What are the right methods in politics? They are those of public discussion; methods of leadership open and above board not closed. Cure diseased politics as we cure tuberculosis; live, walk, sleep out of doors."

Every-body knows that corruption thrives in secret places; avoids public places, honest politicians and honorable corporations owe it to their reputations to bring their activities into the open.

The people of the United States, have made up their minds to do a healthy thing for both politics and big business.

They are going to open the doors; let up the blinds, smoke certain animals out of their burrows. They are going to unearth the beast in the jungle. The people have been hunted by the beast. Now they propose to hunt the beast till they find him. I bid them God speed, nobody is going to get caught in the hunt except beasts that prey; nothing injured they ought to wish preserved."

"That is illustrated by the story of the Irishman who while digging a hole was asked, 'Pat what are you doing digging a hole'. Pat replied; 'no sir; faith an I'm digging the dirt and laying the hole'."

Will our Circuit Judge, Commonwealth Attorneys, Grand Jurors of Kentucky, especially the grass counties, dig dirt in coming days? We shall see! when they go at it straight—(please take note) there may be post holes and post holes for sale. Hail to the country Press of Kentucky, that is making dirt fly, and hail to the Lancaster Record in front columns for the "New Freedom."

Of Interest To Shippers And Stock Raisers.

The Cincinnati Live Stock Record, which is the official organ of the Live stock commission men of Cincinnati, is carrying in its columns two notices which are of interest to stock buyers, and raisers alike. We print the articles herewith, which are self explanatory, and by which all interested should be governed.

"The quarantine on sheep has been raised in Kentucky on account of the scab, therefore the shippers will not be compelled to have certificates before shipping sheep and lambs this season; but there is a quarantine against foot rot, and any one desiring to ship sheep or lambs showing foot rot will have to comply with the following instructions: Trim out the diseased feet once, and give three or four foot-baths in a rough six to sixteen feet long, 18 inches wide, and eight inches deep; fill the trough four to five inches deep with one of the following preparations—A 10 per cent solution of blue-stone; or any coal tar creosote, or creosol sheep dip, made four times stronger than used for dipping sheep for scab. Notify your County inspector and have him notify the Government Inspector at the point to which you intend shipping, that the sheep have been treated for foot-rot and are being shipped for slaughtering purposes only."

"SPECIAL NOTICE!" Mast Fed Hogs.

While it is the general impression with feeders that from four to eight weeks feeding of corn will eliminate the mast in hogs, such is not the case, and unless fed at least three months or more can only be sold subject to inspection, and if killed soft or only partly so the usual difference in price prevails as to condition from $2. to $3. per 100 lb lower than strictly corn fed; of the same weight, and are not wanted, even at the difference in prices."

The local Live Stock Inspector, Col. A. D. Leavell, informs us that he has not seen or heard of any foot rot among the sheep of the county, but that in case it should make its appearance, the above directions must be adhered to.

As for the mast fed hogs, we have repeatedly warned our farmers against their purchase, and those who have invested in this class of stock will do well to observe the precautions of the articles in regard to mast fed hogs, else they will find themselves big losers when their stock reaches the market.
